

FCC Commissioners
The Federal Communications Commission RE: Docket 04-435
445 12th Street, SW
Washington, DC 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners ,

am writing to voice my concerns about the FCC's proposal to relax the restrictions on the use of cell phones on airplanes in flight.

Although there is no hard evidence that cell phone use doesn't interfere with navigational instruments, the introduction of cell phone use in the cabin will increase tension among passengers. People are rude. They talk loudly on cell phones and are extremely irritating even if you're in a check out line and can get away from them. On a plane, you're stuck. We'll soon be hearing of "plane, phone rage". Cell phones will also compromise flight attendants' ability to maintain order in an emergency. Cell phone use could also enable terrorists to coordinate a plan of action more effectively. Let's use our heads before we lose our heads.

Please leave the current rules in effect.

Sincerely,

Vanessa Flournoy
